

OWNER BRIEFING · PIZZA SALES

Pizza sales: what the data says about the business

An owner-focused readout of demand, menu mix, revenue drivers, and the moves most likely to improve performance.

Made with GAMMA

EXECUTIVE SNAPSHOT

Strong demand, with room to sharpen the mix

21,350
orders

$817,860
total revenue

138
pizzas per day

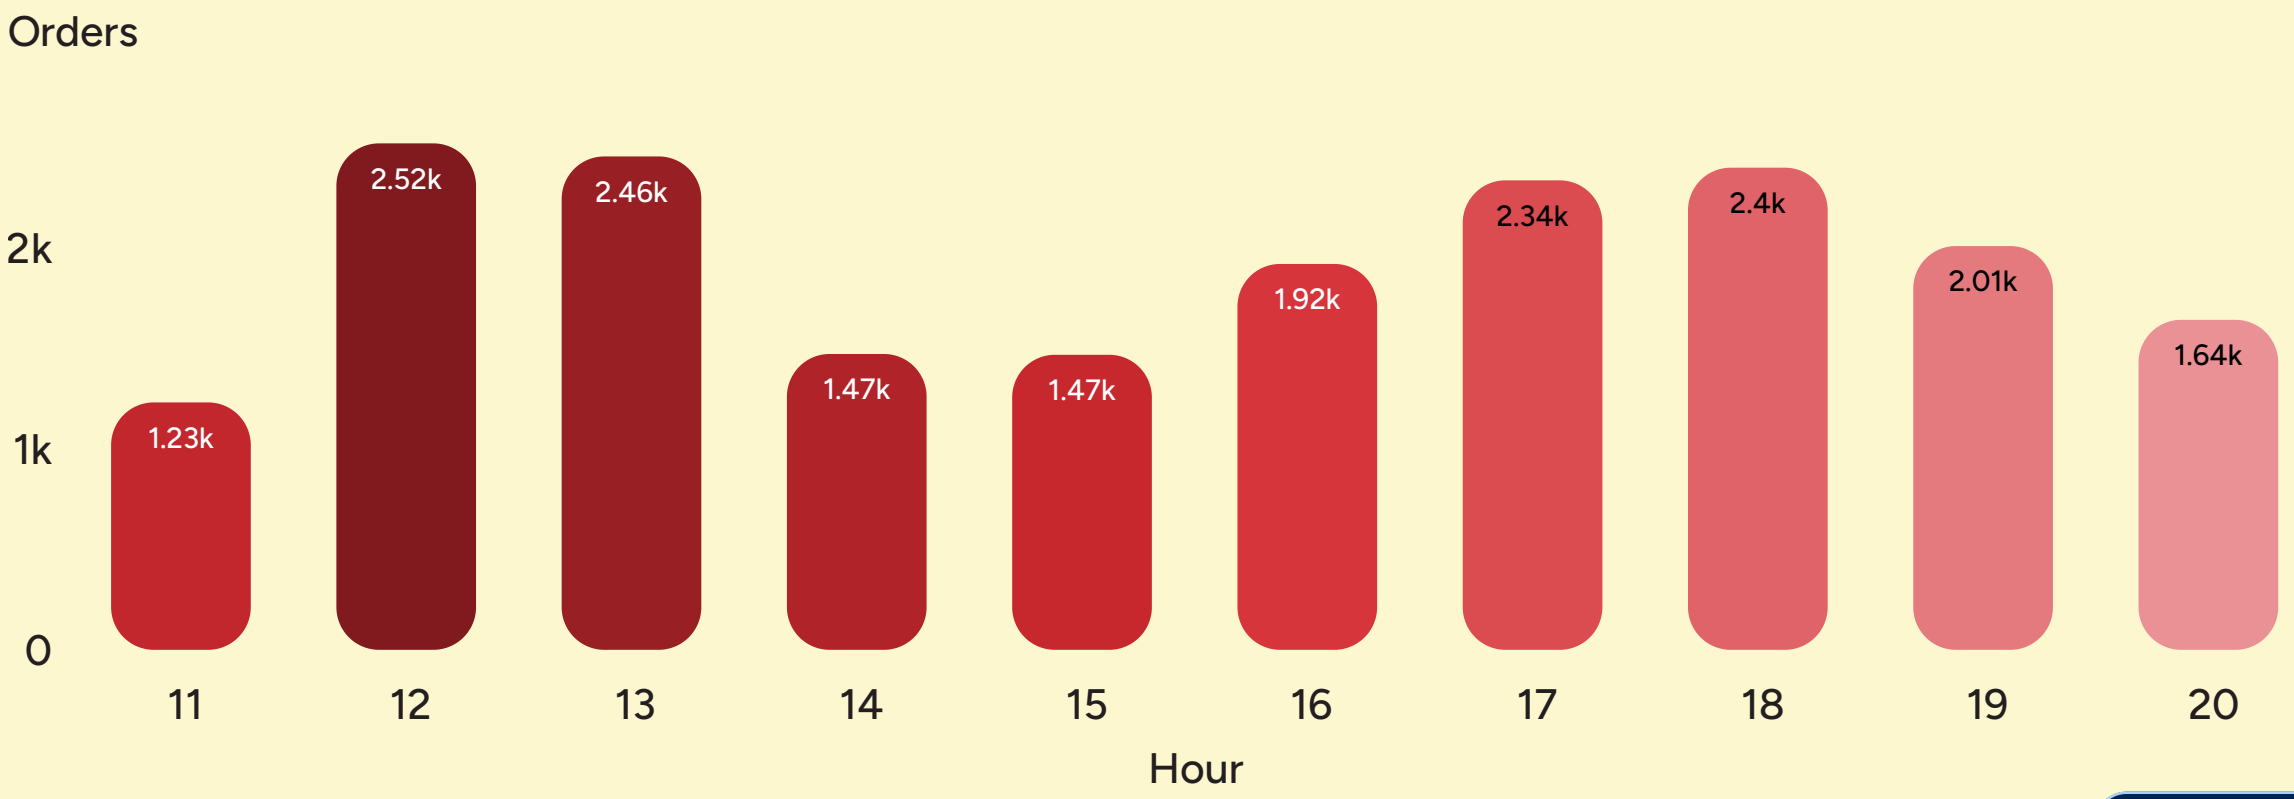

Classic leads category volume and revenue share, while Chicken produces the top three revenue pizzas.

Made with GAMMA

DEMAND TIMING

Demand peaks at lunch and early evening

Orders are strongest at 12:00–13:00 and again at 17:00–18:00, creating two clear staffing and prep windows.

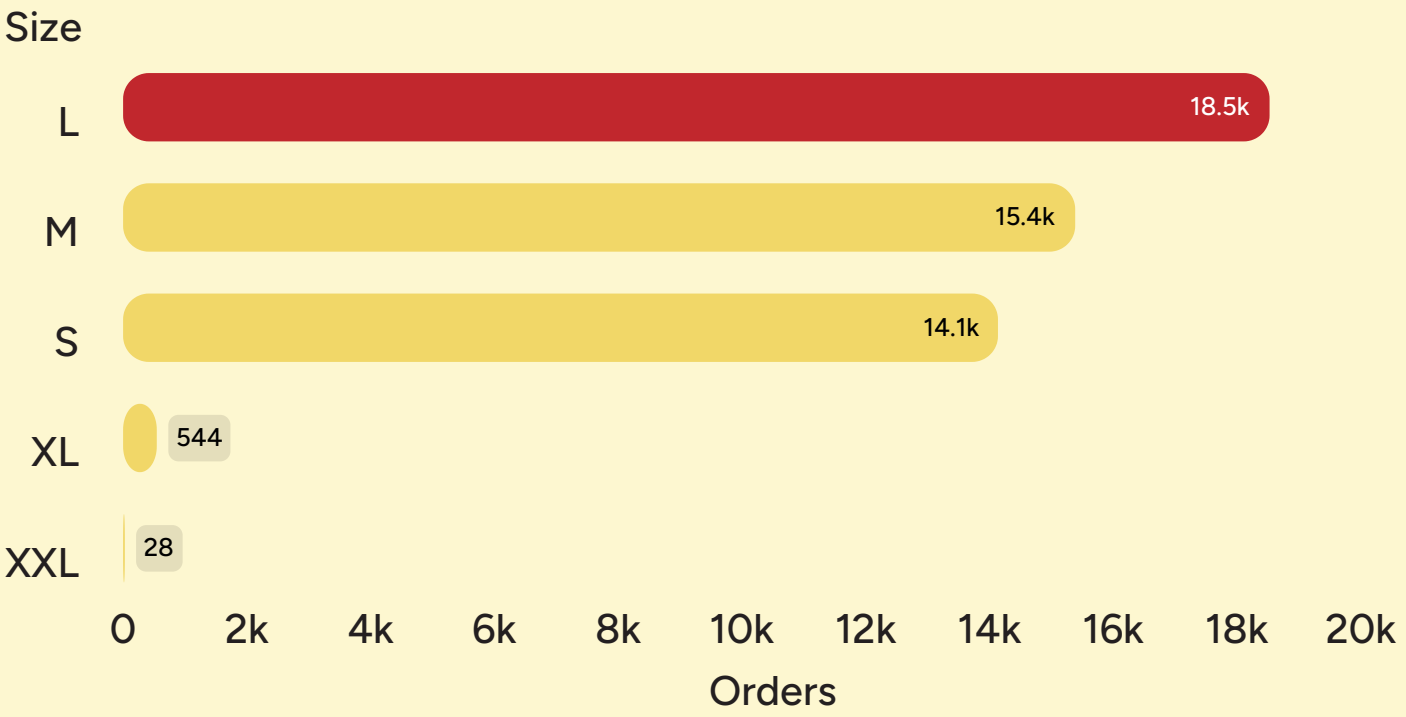

Made with GAMMA

SIZE MIX

Large pizzas are the default choice

Large size orders lead the mix by a clear margin, with medium and small following; XL and XXL remain niche.

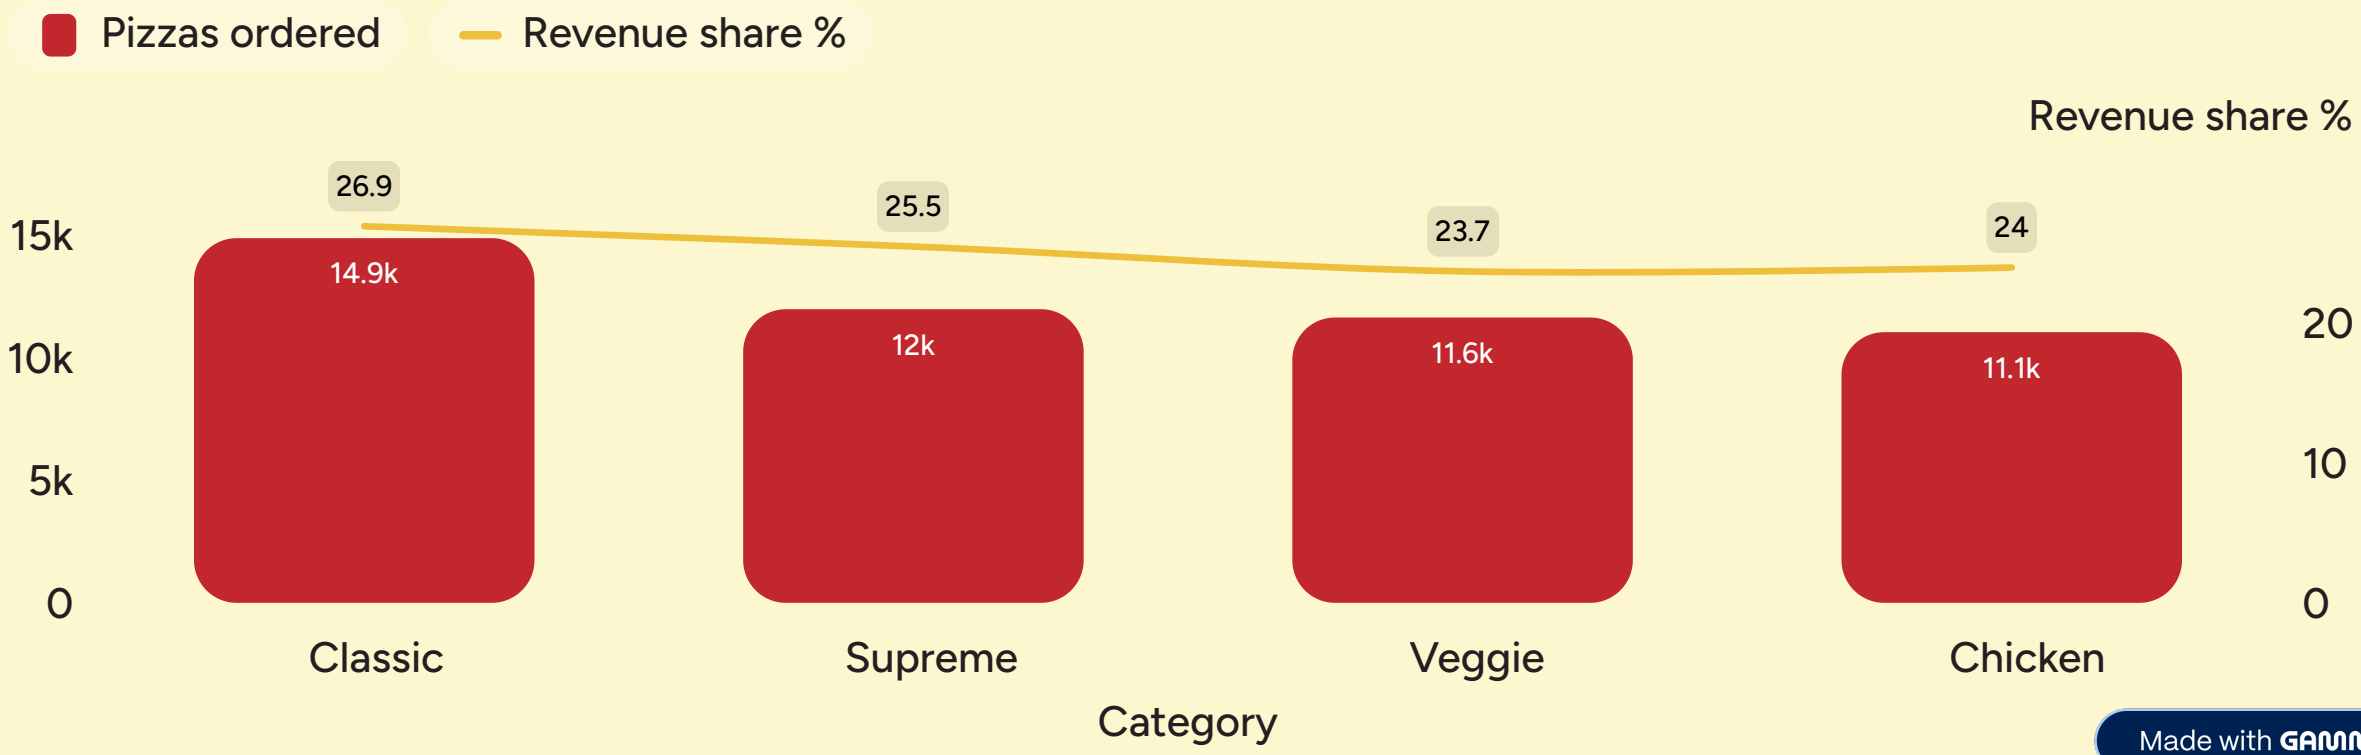

Large is the clear default size.

Made with GAMMA

CATEGORY PERFORMANCE

Classic wins the volume and revenue race

Classic accounts for 14,888 pizzas and 26.9% of category revenue; Supreme, Chicken, and Veggie follow with a relatively balanced revenue mix.

Made with GAMMA

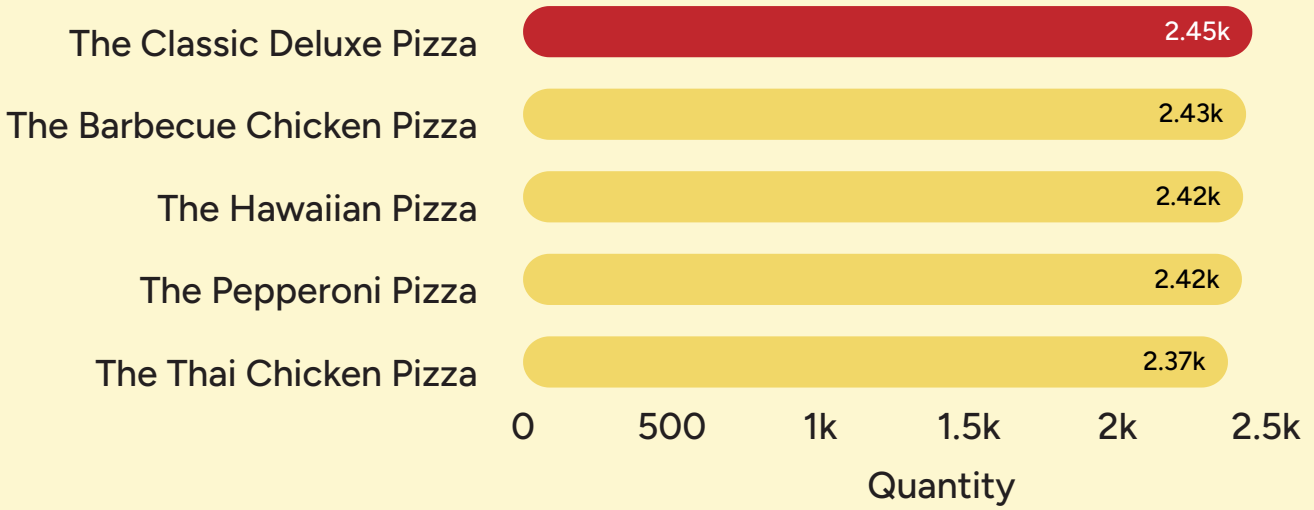

VOLUME LEADERS

The volume leaders are familiar, broad-appeal pizzas

The top five by quantity are Classic Deluxe, Barbecue Chicken, Hawaiian, Pepperoni, and Thai Chicken.

Familiar choices drive repeat demand.

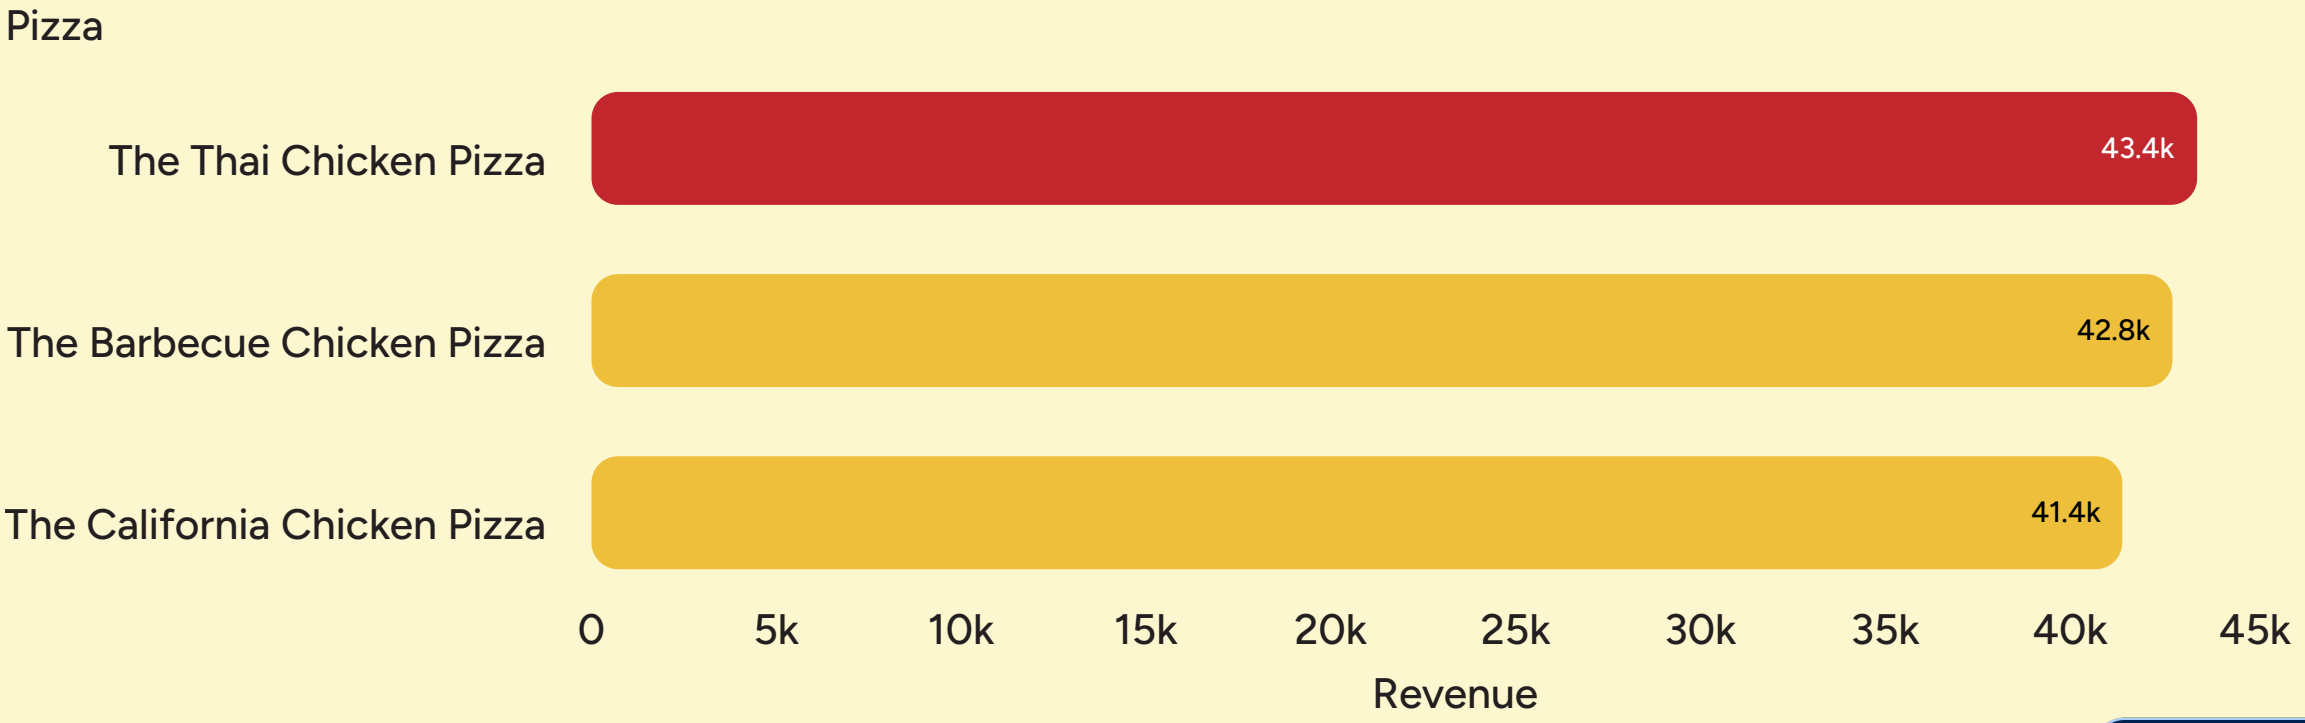

Made with GAMMA

REVENUE LEADERS

Chicken pizzas lead the revenue leaderboard

Thai Chicken generates $43,434.25, followed by Barbecue Chicken at $42,768 and California Chicken at $41,409.50.

Made with GAMMA

MENU SHORTLIST

Each category has a clear product to champion

The analysis identifies the top three revenue pizzas within each category, giving the owner a ready-made menu and promotion shortlist.

Category	Revenue leaders
Chicken	Thai Chicken — $43,434.25; Barbecue Chicken — $42,768; California Chicken — $41,409.50
Classic	Classic Deluxe — $38,180.50; Hawaiian — $32,273.25; Pepperoni — $30,161.75
Supreme	Spicy Italian — $34,831.25; Italian Supreme — $33,476.75; Sicilian — $30,940.50

Made with GAMMA

FROM DATA TO ACTION

Turn the analysis into four operating moves

01

Protect the peaks

Schedule labor and prep around 12:00–13:00 and 17:00–18:00.

02

Merchandise the winners

Feature Thai Chicken, Barbecue Chicken, Classic Deluxe, and other category leaders.

03

Design around the default

Make Large the anchor size, then use Medium and Small for trade-up or value offers.

04

Track the next layer

Add margin, discount, channel, and day-of-week data before changing prices or promotions.

Made with GAMMA

NEXT MEASUREMENTS

What to measure next

The current analysis is a strong sales baseline; the next step is connecting demand to profitability and execution.

- Revenue and orders by day of week, channel, and store period
- Gross margin by pizza and size, not revenue alone
- Peak-hour ticket time, labor coverage, and stockouts
- Promotion lift for the category winners

Made with GAMMA